

Connect the Dots - Know Your Local Food System

A Community Food Forum presented by UncleMindee.com and Good Earth Natural Foods in conjunction with Earth Day Marin Festival and cosponsored by Straus Family Creamery

College of Marin, April 24th 11-6pm

835 College Ave, Kentfield

Food Forum starts at 2pm in Fusselman Hall

Please join some of Marin's starring players for a discussion about the state of our Community Food System.

- Learn about exciting local food providers and how local choices enrich our health and well-being
- Speakers will address food security and carbon reduction
- Hear from experts on organics and GMOs
- Find out about the key things YOU can do to make a difference.

Speakers:

Helge Hellberg - Executive Director of Marin Organic. Creator and host Green960s "An Organic Conversation"

Janet Brown - Co-owner All Star Organic Farm, Lagunitas/Nicasio. Founder of the Marin Food Policy Council

Leah Smith - Farm to Fork Director at Marin Agricultural Institute, she directed Marin Food Systems Project.

Mark Squire - co-owner Good Earth Natural Foods, Board Member Non-GMO Project, GMO free Marin

Constance Washburn - Director of Education, Marin Agricultural Land Trust

Brie Johnson - Sustainability and Communication Manager at Straus Family Creamery

Leticia Jones - "Doing Things", a Marin City gardening, health and nutrition program

Book Raffle! Win one of two copies of the lusciously pictured Organic Marin from Andrews McMeel Publishing, LLC

Local Seasonal Farm Baskets from on display in association with Marin Organic from:

Wild Blue Farm, Margie McDonald and Jack Corwin

Paradise Valley Produce, Sandy & Dennis Dierks

Marin Roots Farm, Jesse Kuhn

Fresh Run Farm, Peter Martinelli

Allstar Organics, Janet Brown & Marty Jacobsen

CowTrack Ranch, Liz Daniels

For Food Forum information: UncleMindee.com

For Festival information: EarthDayMarin.org